WITH SUPPLEMENT. TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1884. THE CITY ELECTION.

Yesterday the worst eliment of both parties tions politicians backed (the condunation. It strength of the ring candidates, riming a serious strength of the ring candidates, riming a man of the republicant party, was in the demonstrate invalidates. In this thire, ward, the republicant stronghold of the city good for three numerical majority in any election as between the parties. The considered of the republicant party will not be led by man of this description, and they then depend where the parties of the dependent party will not be led by man of this description, and they may make a fresh note of 1: of the democratic vote is, the ring ticket found britery amounted to furly on hard it are whole harders and Stoffe, and brief for ring testat, being artist the matter employed in its helalf, was exceeded by dominants one of whom is under artist for the disasses who move bod it and who is zith in behalf of the highertons principles. It had so notely expension. There are required to the disasses who move bod it and who well think who wherever they can find any comparisons of the matter than the disasses who move that it and who well think who wherever they can find any comparisons to have ples "he had so altely exponent. There Erb two or three down others who ought to be onrelied without unnecessary delay to keep him company. Everything that contributes to the dignity, conscience and moved strongth and the prespects of the electron of Conklang and himself 15 the senare were good, and be added. At once the republican party was emissived in the may be a long dead-lock, but we will finally or the expansion print; the ring; and this succeed, or else two democrats will be clear d cause of the criticens aground into ting, and this body of men were seconded by pretty much all that is mentaged to the condition in the democratic party. In any election conducted without corruption, the ring licket would hardly have been heard of in the count. If it is a greater dishonored vote, then the defeated candidates have good reason to be satisfied. But the city, s saved by the election of the sitizens' candidates for the common council. A little more vigilance on the part of citizens against the bribers and their work would have elected the mayor easily, notwithstanding the so-called re-publican candidate at a majority of the dem-

HISTORY, SO CALLED. Examination of the Military History of General Grant, written by Gen. Badesu, of Grant's staff, discloses the fact that the work is very far from being a history. It was to en-gage in "literary work" that Grant gave Badean a high position in the consular service abroad some ten years ago, where he has been retained ever since. This book is the fruit of that literary work: and it is just such a product as might be expected to issue under such circomstances. It is not a history at all. It is a panegyric of Grant as a military commander composed by a salaried emlogist. Badeau finds that from the first to the last of the war Grant made no mistakes. It was no mistake that he the Wilderness conte to Rachmond, which cost the canutry an enormous less of men and ended by placing the national army before Petersburg, where the gunt-jats could have placed it in a week without the loss of a man or gun. It was no mistalle-that assault or Cold Harbor, where 5000 unich soldiers were killed in ten minutes. That was necessary "to ascertain the strength of the rubel position". which a spy glass on the skirmish line would have discovered without any loss at all. Head-ers will have little patience with this sort of "history." It is the history that the minerrole used to compose for the in made, who ciathed and blarded them. Still, it is useful. Grant's military fame is too substantial, a reality to be dissipated by even such indiscriminate landa-tion as this. It has survived much detraction it will survive fulsome praise as well. And then the value of Badean's decuments is no questionable. His book will be worthless as history, but as too plea of an accomplished advecate it will, on all doubtful points, be of the reatest value, as giving the Grant view of the question. It will halp to bring out the rath for the real historian some day—we do not believo to will appear in our day-to gather up

The discussion of 1918 Datase personal Sherman, recontinderess delivered by General Sherman, is still in progress. Sherman's unsuspecting and unformed forces as a last effort to right be a she arrived of the arms of the Ohio under Gen. Buell. . It is the opinion of Gen. Duke that but for the fall of Johnston, Grant's army ould have been substantially destroyed with the close of the first day. Bureaugard having some into command. Restilities ceased tw hours; before dark. The following day Buell's forces arrived; the army regained the ground and defeated the confederates. The personal bravery of the soldiers on both sides was fully tested. It was a bloody battle. The field was governd with dead and wounded. This is not the mark that guldieds who run away or fail to fight make. The confederates were perfectly satisfied, at the close of that day, of the fightng qualities of the "Yankees," and the latter did not need to be told that the "Rebs." would fight with all the bravery of Americans.

 $MACADAMEZED\ STREETS.$

Portland has had sufficient experience with maradamized streets to learn by this time that such streets are not valuable for those localities where the tradic is at all beavy. St. Louis has been putting down streets of this kind, and the Chahr-Democrati indulges in some strong language on the subject. It excusss itself by saying that no language can be too strong to do justice to the subject, when the streets which are covered by the invention of the scotchman whose name has come down from a former generation in connection with this road covering, become through it a source of emiliess discomfurt and expense. When good hard trap or granite is used the result is a good road, where hard usage is not required. But an the leading thoroughtares of a city it is about as bad as can be. It would be difficult the eyes, the Erroat and the lings, not to speak of the feelings of those who are forced to en-counter it, than the fine clust which is ground from a macadamized city street. This dust, when dry, is whirled adoft into the tyes and mouths of passengers, and into every corner of every house. When moistened it makes a masty paste dangerous to horses, inconvenien to pedestrians and destructive of riothing. It is blown away by the winds, washed away by the rains and carried away as fifth; and hence metal be renewed every two or three years. Third street, new just inti-hed, looks well enough; but wait for the dust of dry weather and the filthy "lobboly" of wit weather to get
